11 in alleged 'crack' ring indicted

Three Madison residents, a Venice man and a Florissant, Mo., man are among 11 individuals indicted by a federal grand jury in East St. Louis for their participation in an alleged crack cocaine ring.

The drug ring is believed to have imported large quantities of cocaine from Texas for redistribution in Madison and Venice.

Six Texas residents were also named in the eight-count indictment.

The April 21 indictment was initially suppressed but was unsealed last week.

Charged with one count of conspiracy to distribute cocaine and cocaine base (crack) between January 1992 and February 1993 are:

Jerome Powers, 32, of the 1500 block of Market Street in Madison; Herman Smith Jr., 28, of the 700 block of Jefferson Street in Madison; Fred Smith, 27, of the 1000 block of Market Street in Venice; Bernadette Williams, 30, of the 1600 block of Second Street in Madison; Daryl Ramone Wilson, 23, of Florissant; Charlie M. Johnson, Gary Studo, Lonnie Somach and Cynthia Vargas, all of Houston; Burnis L. Haywood of Bellaire, Texas; and Marisela Mejia of Texas City, Texas.

In addition to the conspiracy count, Herman Smith Jr. was also charged with distribution of cocaine base, conspiracy to commit money laundering, and interstate transportation in aid of a racketeering enterprise.

Powers was additionally charged with two counts of conspiracy to commit money laundering and three counts of interstate transportation in aid of a racketeering enterprise. Fred Smith was also charged with interstate transportation in aid of a racketeering enterprise.

Wilson was also charged with possession with intent to distribute cocaine and cocaine base.

Johnson was charged with additional counts of conspiracy to commit money laundering and interstate transportation in aid of a racketeering enterprise.

More than $300,000 has been seized from drug couriers involved in the alleged conspiracy.

The conspiracy allegedly involved the importation of "multiple-kilogram quantities of cocaine from Texas for redistribu

Council to take new look at cost overruns

Konzen to examine legality of charges for sidewalks

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Konzen

Hanke

The Granite City Council is still wondering if it must pay $87,000 in cost overruns associated with recently completed new curbs, gutters and sidewalks in East Granite and Lincoln Place.

The question of whether or not the city must pay the additional costs was turned over Tuesday to new City Attorney Leo Konzen for a formal opinion.

Former City Attorney Mark Goldenberg told Public Works Director Brett Hanke that he is of the opinion that the city is obligated to pay the additional funds, but Goldenberg never rendered that opinion formally to the City Council, according to a memo from Hanke to the Engineering Committee.

Initially, Hanke estimated the cost of the project, to be paid with community development funds, at $327,000. The City Council allocated $360,000 for the project, but the final bill for the improvements came to nearly $450,000.

While some of the aldermen said the work was done poorly, Hanke reiterated his position that the problem is "not in the quality of the work, as has been alleged ... but in the quantity."

Hanke said that C.D. Peters Construction Co. performed the work exactly as specified in the contract, that the cost overrun was a result of errors in his estimation of the scope of the work, and that the overrun was not discovered until after the work was completed.

He said that, although there may have been problems with the quality of the work during the job, he has no problem at all with the quality of the final product.

Jim Peters of C.D. Peters also defended the project.

"We put in the work as per the plans and specifications, and the quality of the

Pregnant woman survives shooting, but fetus killed

A pregnant 29-year-old St. Louis woman was shot Wednesday morning near Eagle Park Acres, apparently in St. Clair County.

The Illinois State Police Division of Criminal Investigation is investigating the incident, in which a four-month-old fetus was killed.

Sylvia M. Johnson was shot several times, according to Capt. Wayne Watson of DCI.

Johnson was about four months pregnant at the time she was shot. The fetus was killed in the incident, Watson said.

A passing motorist stopped to assist Johnson, who was walking near Bend Road/Eagle Park Road Wednesday, Watson said. Johnson was transported by ambulance to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, where she responded well to treatment, Watson said.

He said that the Madison County Sheriff's Department was contacted at about 6:30 a.m. Wednesday related to a shooting incident on Bend Road/Eagle Park Road, about a mile west of Highway 203.

While Madison County deputies responded, it was determined that the incident took place in St. Clair County, sources said.

The investigating agencies are pursuing leads obtained from witnesses, including information about a vehicle that was seen fleeing from the scene, Watson said.

To mother, with love

Readers share their feelings

Everyone knows a mother's love is hard to define,
But about 50 area residents tried to put it in rhyme.
The Journal requested touching words and lines,
And young and old children took the time,
To say "I love you" and "Mom's the best."
We'll publish some and mention the rest.

"When you have a child you never know what they retain during the years as they are growing up. This is a poem my daughter wrote to me on her 21st birthday that I will cherish the rest of my years because it says so much to me as a mother. I wanted to share it with other mothers," wrote Faye Knight of Granite City.

I thank you for all the things you have done for me.
You've held me up through the roughest times you see.

New tally gives Terrell one more vote — and Echols 2

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Echols

Venice alderman Michael Terrell, who lost the mayoral race last month by 12 votes, gained one vote in a discovery recount of Venice Precinct 2 on Friday afternoon.

But Mayor Tyrone Echols gained two votes, so the recount wasn't exactly a victory for anyone.

Because the election was so close, Terrell was allowed a discovery recount of one of the four precincts. The final vote total was 664 for Echols and 632 for Terrell. For a full recount, Terrell must file suit in Madison County Circuit Court.

Friday's recount was done with County Clerk Evelyn Bowles by the Venice Election Board, made up of Echols, City Clerk Wilbert Glasper and City Attorney Casper Nighohossian. Terrell, his attorney, Victoria Vasileff, and Venice Alderman Silver Franklin also attended.

There were 426 votes cast in the precinct and two recounts of the ballots on Friday each showed 204 for Echols and 196 for Terrell. The recounts were done by the automatic counting machine after verification that the machine was operating properly.

At the end of the recounting process, Bowles asked if anyone needed anything else.

"Not unless you want to count the other precincts," Terrell said.

Nighohossian said that would have to wait for another day and a court order. Terrell assured him both will come.

During the recount, the board, at Terrell's request, pulled the 21 ballots that had no vote for mayor and the five ballots that showed votes for both candidates. In that process, an additional ballot was discovered where a voter had voted for Echols, but had failed to punch all the way through the ballot, making only a pin-hole.

The ballots that had no vote for mayor or more than one vote for mayor were verified through the counting machine and, in the

Spring planting is a washout

Rivers rising, Page 2A

A broken levee has washed out Melvin Neustadt Jr.'s spring corn planting, leaving 700 acres of his farm, and another 1,600 acres of others' property, under water.

"The water was 3 feet deep across 90 percent of our farm," said Neustadt, who lives in West Alton, Mo.

Farmers across the area have been hamstrung for the fourth week in a row by heavy rains that have kept farmland unworkable.

The National Weather Service recorded 16 inches of rain for the year through Monday, 5 inches above normal for the period.

Farmers are worried they may not get any corn sowed by the May 15 planting deadline, said Ray Gvillo of the Madison County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service.

"I usually plant 300 to 400 acres of corn on that land," Neustadt said. "This spring I won't get any corn seed in the

Kindergarten may become full day

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

A number of reorganization proposals — including beginning all-day kindergarten, adopting the middle school concept and changing school learning centers into multi-media centers — are being considered by the Granite City school board.

The proposals, part of a four-year comprehensive plan for the district developed by the school administration, are currently being presented to the district's teachers and staff for their consideration and input.

Superintendent Steve Balen said that, under a judicial decision known as the Central City Ruling, all proposals involving personnel must go through the collective bargaining process. He said the proposals go through a three-step process:

- The administration collects information, develops an outline of a proposal and presents it to the school board for discussion, possible modification and initial approval.
- The board-modified proposal is presented to the teachers, staff and general public for input, negotiation or suggested modifications.
- The proposal, including suggestions and recommendations from all sources, is given back to the school board for final disposition.

Under the process, a proposal in the four-year plan for administrative realignment was given final approval by the school board earlier this year, but the board dropped a redistricting proposal in the plan that involved transferring some students at Prather Elementary School.

Proposals for the learning center, middle school, full-day kindergarten and reductions in secondary school costs were discussed, in closed session, by the school board at a special meeting Tuesday. Balen said the proposals will be presented to the teachers and staff in a series of meetings beginning this week at the district's schools..

The proposal concerning the learning centers is designed to make computer and related skills a part of regular classroom studies. Under the proposal, the district's nine learning center teachers would be replaced by nine para-professional, multi-media center aides, two multi-media teacher-trainers and two itinerant teachers for the gifted program.

•Mothers

You've given me a quarter when you couldn't spare a dime. You've taken a moment when you really didn't have the time.

You've taught me right from wrong, Which has helped me be strong. I thank you mother for not doing me wrong.

I thank you for the knowledge that you have taught me, Because everything I've learned will always be with me.

I'll remember you when I venture out on my own, But always knowing you're close if I ever feel alone.

For 21 years you have probably been insane. I know I can be one hell of a pain.

I know we've had our ups and downs, But now as I'm growing I'm coming around.

There have been a few times our bond has almost been broken apart. Then you look at me with those eyes and decide to give me another start.

Most people only get one chance to begin, But you've given me that chance again and again.

I know there have been a few times I have committed a sin, But you've always left the door open to let me come back in.

Mom, I know you'll be by my side until the end. I also know I can confide in you as my best friend.

I'll love you forever, and I hope you know it's true. For the person I am today, I can only thank you.

Bobbie

When I was born all cuddled and warm, I received all I could of Mama's sweet charm. Since I do not remember when I started to crawl, it is now my Mama who tells me all.

As I grew older and started to walk, I found out what "no" meant when Mama would talk. On that first day of school, that first school year, I could not understand why Mother's, not Mama's, eyes were a tear.

While time went by and the years started to pass, it seemed Mother was wrong, so I argued and sassed. Mother toiled and bothered but wanted not. I wanted my way, no matter what.

Now I have started to high school and it sure is fun, and as you can see I keep on the run. School by no means is such a bomb, and also it's not Mother now, but it is Mom.

Well, I've grown older now and started to date, and it seems I can find no one who wants to relate. Now I have troubled my Mom, I am sure to say, just because many times I wanted my way.

Now I am grown, married and on my own, but I sometimes miss Mom and the warmth of her home. Also, I've found that it isn't too late, that Mom is the one that I can now relate.

Mom's days were numbered and have now all gone. But, you see, I know now that Mom was not wrong. Now it's too late for me to say, "I'm sorry, Mom, that I wanted my way."

You've gone from me now on this very sad day. I think of all the right things I wanted to say. Things I wished I had done and that I wished I could do. I wish you could hear these words, Mom: "I love you."

Ralph Baker
Granite City

Mama, I love you, and I want you to know, that no matter where I am or wherever I go, you'll always be the dearest and closest to my heart, though winding roads and ventures have kept us apart.

Mama, thank you, for all the things that you do, the happy memories, the precious moments and the sad times, too.

I'll cherish the wealth of your wisdom forever and a day; the morals and values you instilled in me will never fade away.

Mama, enjoy the rest of your life, for you have worked for far too many years, never a moment's rest through all the pain and tears.

If I could be half the mom you are, I'll be filled with joy, 'cause, Mama, you've been a precious jewel to me and so much more.

When I was 7 and wrote this way.
MY MOM WOULD LOOK AT ME AND SAY "IT'S OKAY."

AT 17 I MARRIED AND WENT MY OWN WAY,
MY MOM WOULD VISIT AND SAY "IT'S ALL OKAY."

AT 47, STILL MARRIED AND TURNING GRAY,
MY MOM LOOKS AT ME AND SAYS "OH, IT'S OKAY."

But, now Mom is 77 and writes this way.
AND.... I LOOK AND HER AND SAY "IT'S OKAY"........

FOR MY 'MOM' BESSIE LONEY
BY MARILYN WORTHEN

God took the sunshine from the skies and made the lovelight in your eyes. From honeyed flowers he took the dew and made your tears unselfish, true.

Upon a rock your faith He built, with angel prayer your breath He filled. And with His love made you divine, but best of all he made you mine.

A mother's love is the closest thing that we may ever know, to the love that Jesus has for us as we travel here below.

A mother's love is selfless and pure as it stands the test of time. How I thank the Lord — He gave to me a godly mom.

Someday, we'll see Christ face to face. We'll rejoice with one another, but the closest thing we'll know down here is the love of a Christian mother.

My mom will always have a place in my heart. I know we will never, ever part.

My mom is always there for me when I need her. I love her very much and that's for sure.

My mom is a person who is very kind. Her smile is like a light that will always shine.

I thank my mom for all she has done. I wrote this poem for her because she is the perfect mom.

There are many holidays throughout the year, but there is one that I hold very dear.

That one comes in the month of May; that special time is Mother's Day.

It's for someone I admire very much, who has a warm and loving touch.

I don't appreciate her as I should. She raised me the best she could.

There will never be another as wonderful as my mother.

I love her very much, you know, even though sometimes it doesn't show.

So on this day, I want to say, she's a special mom in every way.

Greater love you will never find than Mom's — it's the adoption kind. To love and care for another's child, especially one whose ways were wild, and bring that child to adulthood to know the bad way from the good.

I honor my mother for what she taught, but mostly for the love she brought.

Alice DeBow Krohne

My mother was always there. Through school and sickness, she showed she did care. As den mother, Sunday school teacher and friend, she spent the day cleaning the house and my clothes she did mend.

She taught me right from wrong and cooked my meal, helped me with homework and always asked, "How do you feel?"

Her job was being a mother and wife. She brought a lot of joy to my father's life.

My father has passed away and my mother's still here. I can still talk to her when I have a fear.

I wrote this poem just to simply say, I will always love my mother to my dying day.

Today is Mother's Day and it's as special as can be, for it was 30 years ago today that my mom had me.

Now I'm a mother of two, a 10-year-old girl and 11-month old boy. A lot of work raising kids, but also a lot of joy.

I learned about bringing up a family from no one other than that "very special woman" that I call my mother.

Man indicted for child pornography

A Madison County grand jury indicted a 33-year-old Venice man Thursday on charges of child pornography and sexual assault of a child.

Three young boys, all under the age of 13, are alleged to have been victimized.

Michael A. Starnes, of the 1100 block of Logan Avenue, was indicted on three counts of child pornography and two counts of aggravated criminal sexual assault.

Starnes had initially been charged April 16 by Madison County State's Attorney William Haine with two counts of child pornography and two counts of aggravated criminal sexual assault.

Starnes allegedly solicited three children to appear in "live presentations" in which the children were depicted as engaging in sexual conduct.

The sexual assault charges stem from Starnes "or an individual for whom (he) was legally accountable" performing sex acts with two of the children, according to an information.

The alleged acts took place between Thanksgiving and Christmas last year, according to the information.

Venice Police Chief James Bennett said his department was notified of the alleged activity in February of this year. After a preliminary investigation, the matter was turned over to the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, Bennett said.

Bennett said the alleged incidents took place in the homes of the children.

Rivers rising again; barge traffic slows

ALTON — The Mississippi River, which had receded earlier this week, has begun to expand its course again.

The river jumped back up a foot Thursday at the Melvin Price Lock and Dam.

"Driftwood is piled 15 feet high along the lock wall," Lockmaster Tom Miller said.

Flood-weary Grafton residents were hit with a 6-inch jump in the Illinois and Mississippi rivers since Wednesday.

"The sudden rise in floodwater surprised everyone," said Paul Arnold, Grafton's flood emergency coordinator.

The rivers are still two to three feet below the highest crest last month.

But barge traffic through the lock at Alton has slowed to a crawl because rising floodwater has shut down a major lock 73 miles upriver at Clarksville, Mo.

High water poured over Lock and Dam No. 24 Wednesday night, closing the 53-year-old lock to barge traffic, Lockmaster Chris Morgan said.

"All towboat traffic came to a halt up and down the river," Morgan said.

The closing of Lock 24 cut towboat traffic by 70 percent at the 1,200-foot Price Lock, Miller said.

"A few towboats are pushing cargo through Alton up the Illinois River," Miller said.

The lock closing is a blow to the barge industry at the peak of the spring season, said Chuck Norman of Norman Bros. Inc. of Godfrey, a major towboat company.

Twenty towboats pushing 300 barges of grain, fuel and fertilizer are tied up along the Clarksville shore waiting for the lock to open.

"They're stacked up along the riverbank," Morgan said. "Towboat crews will wait it out until the water drops and we can open the lock."

Three of Norman's towboats, Normania, Marvin E. Norman and William C. Norman, are stopped above Lock 24 with barges full of grain.

"It's costing me $6,000 a day to operate the towboats while they're tied up along the riverbank," Norman said.

Thousands of tons of grain on Norman's barges were bound for St. Louis, New Orleans and eventually to foreign markets, he said.

The Mississippi rose 2 inches overnight at Alton and stood at 28.4 feet Friday, 7 feet above flood stage.

"Heavy rains will raise the water another 2 inches at Alton," said Rich Mills of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

"There are more thundershowers on the way today and Saturday," Dave Metze of the National Weather Service said.

At Grafton, the rivers stood at 26.6 feet today, 7 feet above flood stage.

The water had fallen 2 feet and people were getting ready to clean the muddy mess out of their homes. "The rivers turned around and gave us another soaking," Arnold said.

The Jersey County Health Department is helping flood victims stay healthy during the high water.

Health officials passed out leaflets with health and sanitation tips to people in Grafton, said Steve Shireman, the department's director of environmental health.

"People should not eat food that comes in contact with floodwater," Shireman said.

The department is offering free tetanus shots to people around the Grafton floodwater, he said.

People who want health information or tetanus shots should call the department at 498-9565in Jerseyville, he said.

Highway 100 hrough Grafton and the lower lanes of U.S. 67 south of the Clark Bridge in Missouri remained closed Friday.

Asadorian attacks method of forming council committees

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

While one newly seated Granite City alderman protested the procedure, the City Council established membership on its 14 standing committees at an informal meeting following Tuesday night's City Council meeting.

Newly elected 5th Ward Alderman Eddie Asadorian began the selection process by saying that the procedure was unfair to the five new aldermen. But three of the other four new aldermen said that they had no problem with the procedure.

Traditionally, existing committee members are given the option to either retain their respective committee memberships or to drop off.

Any vacancies created either by retiring aldermen or by those who choose to drop committee membership are then filled by allowing all interested aldermen's names to be included in a drawing from a hat.

Asadorian didn't like the pro cedure.

Asadorian

"I don't think it's fair to (the new aldermen), who might not have the opportunity to serve on the committees they want," Asadorian said.

But senior alderman Paul Fisk explained that the procedure promotes continuity, and thus allows some committee members who are already familiar with the issues to serve.

Fisk also said that each of the senior aldermen went through the same process when first elected.

Mayor Ron Selph will choose a chairman for each committee.

County OKs reselling bonds

County officials may have added a little fat to the county coffers by taking advantage of lower interest rates.

The County Board Wednesday unanimously approved a new bond sale that is expected to save at least $290,000 on bond payments.

Boatmen's Bank of St. Louis has two weeks to sell almost $10 million in new bonds of behalf of the county. The new bonds will be used to retire about three-quarters of a 1989 20-year bond issue for the Madison County Administration Building.

The county is expected to save at least $290,000 over the life of the new bonds because of lower annual payments, officials said. The exact amount of savings will not be known until the day the bonds are sold because interest rates change daily.

Four years ago the county issued about $14 million in bonds to build the Administration Building in Edwardsville. Almost $10 million of those bonds are expected to be retired with the new bond issue.

The bond sale was approved just two days after Madison County Auditor Fred Bathon warned county officials they could face deficit spending as high as $1.4 million in 1994 if measures aren't taken.

Bathon warned officials that if the growth rate for expenses continues, the county could face a deficit of $1.8 million in 1995, $2.3 million in 1996 and $2.7 million in 1997.

The county currently has $9.7 million in reserves. But officials have already earmarked them as the likely source of money to plug a hole in the county budget when operating costs are expected to outpace tax revenue in the next few years.

County to sell mineral rights May 18

Underground mineral rights owned by Madison County will go on the auction block May 18.

More than 200 parcels will be offered at a public auction at 7 p.m. in Room 103 of the Madison County Courthouse. The county obtained the rights because previous owners failed to pay property taxes.

The auction may be the first in the county's history and includes rights obtained by the county as long ago as 1970, said Jack Butler of Joseph E. Meyer and Associates. The firm was hired by the county last year to dispose of tax-delinquent property.

Butler said he did not know what happened to mineral rights obtained by the county before 1970. "How they disposed of them then, I don't know," he said.

Separate ownership of mineral rights and surface rights is common in much of Madison County because of coal and oil deposits, Butler said. A once-thriving coal industry in the county has been dormant for several decades.

Butler said he figures that some people may want to acquire the mineral rights under their own land. His office is trying to contact those who own the surface property above the mineral rights that are up for sale.

"These rights do not necessarily indicate there is any coal or any other mineral on the property," he added.

On the auction block are mineral rights in Edwardsville, Olive, Omphghent, Collinsville, Helvetia, Jarvis, St. Jacob and Marine townships. The parcels range from less than half an acre to nearly 500 acres. Bidding starts at $150 for each parcel. Seating begins at 6:30 p.m. and prospective bidders are encouraged to arrive early.

Catalogs listing the parcels are available for $2 each from the Madison County Clerk's Office. For more information, contact the Madison County Delinquent Tax Agent, 141 St. Andrews Ave., P.O. Box 96, Edwardsville, IL, 62025. The telephone number is 656-5744.

Salvation Army spent $264,000 in '92

In a report for 1992, the Salvation Army of Southwestern Madison County says it raised $260,548 and spent $264,803. Of the latter figure, direct assistance totaled $108,327.

Lt. Tim Miller said, "Every dollar to the penny is accounted for. Actually, much more was spent on direct assistance. I would estimate about another $50,000 is given in direct assistance that we do not keep track of.

"I don't have the time to figure out how much the value of most of the items are that are donated to the Army and given in direct assistance.

"We could hire someone to do this and show we spent more on direct services. But in reality we would not be providing any more services and the actual costs of providing services would increase.

"The rest of the expenses included employee costs, program costs, equipment, utilities, and all that goes into the operation of the Salvation Army.

"All of these are considered indirect services provided by the Salvation Army. When an employee is available to give assistance, these are THE services provided.

"We do the best we can to provide services in the most cost-effective and service-effective way even if it means putting on a sweater to work in the office," Miller said.

The Salvation Army served 32,239 persons in 1992. For 1993, Miller reported, "Our goal for persons served is 45,000. We will be able to do this by the expansion of several programs.

"In working with homeless, we have found there are many parents who lack work because they cannot find affordable child care. What happens, especially with single parents, is that being unable to work, they exhaust the state's welfare assistance.

> 'Expanding the child-care program will allow parents, especially single parents, to find work so they can support themselves.'
> — Lt. Tim Miller

"When the benefits run out, they come to us and we take care of them with housing until they can get back on state assistance," he said.

"Expanding the child-care program will allow parents, especially single parents, to find work so they can support themselves.

"The side benefit is that, not only will another person be added to the work force, but this will reduce the financial burden on the state welfare programs.

"Another area we are expanding services is in Collinsville and Edwardsville. For years, we have worked with the Salvation Army Extension Unit out of St. Louis in providing services for these areas.

"As of Jan. 1, we have become responsible for all the services being provided for Collinsville and Edwardsville. The reason for this is there was a conflict between how fund-raising would be done between the Salvation Army locally and the service extension office. It made the most sense for the Salvation Army Unit able to offer the most services to be responsible for everything," Miller said.

Local volunteers who worked for the service extension unit will continue and will now report to the office in Granite City. A director for each area will become a part of the Granite City advisory board. A committee on the advisory board will be formed for Collinsville and Edwardsville.

"We will serve southwestern Madison County as a whole. Such programs as the back-to-school supplies for needy children will be expanded into Collinsville and Edwardsville. Our focus will be the same; as funds are available, we will meet people's needs for all of southwestern Madison County.

"This is not only possible because of the donations made to the Salvation Army; it comes from groups like the Boy Scouts, Protestant Welfare, Catholic Charities, Four Square Church, supporting churches and many other agencies that work together, including the United Way, to provide services for our area."

Efforts to reduce crime are failing

(By U.S. Sen. Paul Simon)

At a recent gathering of prison officials, judges and policymakers from around the nation at Dana College in Nebraska, the discussion centered on these questions: Are we dealing with crime effectively? How can we do better?

Among those at the meeting were directors of state departments of corrections; several people who have spent time in prison; Professor Norval Morris of the University of Chicago, who is probably the nation's top expert in this field; Gov. Benjamin Nelson of Nebraska; Tom Wicker of the New York Times, who has written extensively in this field; and others.

You would probably not find agreement among them on some things, but this came through clearly: We are failing in our attempts to reduce crime — and we are failing at a huge economic and social cost.

In 1970, the U.S. had 134 people in prison for each 100,000 population. Now we have 455 for each 100,000 — far more than any other nation that records such numbers. South Africa is second with 311 and Canada has 109.

On the theory it would reduce crime, we started spending billions on building more prisons, and the violent crime rate has gone up. The evidence is strong that most of our prisons are schools of crime, rather than places to prepare people for life after prison.

It costs an average of $14,000 to $20,000 a year to take care of a prisoner, not counting the cost of prison construction.

There is no question that people who have been involved in crimes of violence, who represent a possible threat to society, should be locked up.

But in the federal system, for example, a majority of the prisoners have committed non-violent crimes like embezzlement, forging checks or minor drug offenses.

They should be punished, but I tend to think they should serve a short time in prison, to understand what that's like and then be forced to spend the rest of their time doing some type of community service: Helping in a mental hospital, planting trees in a national forest, or other constructive work.

They could be paid minimum wage, but most of what they earn should go to pay their room and board and, in some cases, to compensate their victims.

It would save the nation billions, and the evidence suggests that it would be more effective in reducing crime.

And our prisons do painfully little to prepare people for life on the outside, as former Chief Justice Warren Burger has pointed out again and again.

The Dana College conference found judges, prosecutors and everyone in agreement that mandatory sentences in the law sound tough, but sometimes lead to great injustices.

Judges should have guidelines, but if they want to sentence someone for more than the guideline or less than the guideline, they should be able to do that. But if they go outside of the guidelines, they have to explain in writing why they do it, and that sentence must then be reviewed by a higher court or sentencing commission.

If the billions we have spent to build more prisons and house more people were partially spent on creating jobs, better schools and constructive opportunities for the poor — and most people in prison are poor — my instinct is that we would do much more to reduce crime than we now do.

Building more prisons has been an expensive and ineffective way to halt crime. It has been a flop.

Other countries have found better answers and we can, too.

Technology is making Illinois coal a safe, clean fuel

By Kim Underwood, director of coal development and marketing, Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources.

The word "investment" has been popularized by our nation's new leaders. This investment will be necessary to jump-start the economy, pay down the national debt and position the United States to be competitive in the global marketplace.

Meanwhile, the nation as a whole has put priority on investing in our environment. That brings us to May, Clean Air Month in Illinois, sponsored by the American Lung Association.

What investment is Illinois making in the environment? What are the dividends?

As part of a long-term commitment to safeguard the environment and provide reliable and safe energy, Illinois has invested significant resources since the 1970s. As its part in a statewide initiative, the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources (ENR) has focused on protecting our air, land and water.

An example of this investment concerns coal, the state's most valuable natural energy resource. In fact, Illinois got ahead of the game and recognized the impact of approaching clean-air regulations two decades ago. Given the importance of coal as a fuel and product of the state, Illinois has taken an energy technology leadership role in the U.S.

Through ENR, Illinois has invested $1 billion in clean- coal technologies from state, federal and private development sources over the past 15 years. Illinois has moved on a fast-track program to develop energy-efficient and environmentally favorable technologies. In doing so, the state has formed partnerships with industry to make technology happen.

Daily, researchers at ENR's Illinois Clean Coal Institute at Carterville are advancing energies technologies from the workbench toward demonstration at power plants and industrial sites.

Coal companies and the Illinois Coal Association have also supported finding cleaner ways to burn this valuable fuel.

The investment in research compounds the environmental dividends with positive impact on jobs and the economic underpinnings of Illinois.

Coal mining is the second-largest Downstate industry, providing 9,000 direct jobs and nearly 30,000 spinoff jobs in the state. Annually, coal mining pumps $1.5 billion into the state economy.

In a relatively brief time, research has produced break-the-mold concepts for generating electricity by burning Illinois high-sulfur coal under the regulations of the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990.

What's more, promising technologies are advancing toward commercialization every day. Any of these technologies could paint a bright future for the coal, economy and environment of Illinois.

As with any sound investment, dividends accrue gradually over time for the patient investor. In Illinois, the years of scientific and financial investments have begun yielding attractive technology solutions that will provide stable, safe and clean energy — and cleaner air — in the future.

The best is yet to come.

Join in efforts to make city better

TO THE EDITOR:

I thank the people of the Sixth Ward for their support in the April 20 election. Their patience throughout the campaign in talking with the candidates who knocked at their doors and in reading the numerous advertisements is appreciated.

I thank those home owners who supported their candidates by displaying a sign for what must have seemed an eternity.

Although I did not win the office I was seeking, I had the opportunity to meet hundreds of people and to make many new friends. The experience will be one that I will not soon forget.

I also thank all the people on my campaign team who gave of their time and effort to help me. While the names are too numerous to mention, their support will never be forgotten. We worked hard for several months to bring a message to the people. My only regret is that I was not able to bring home a winner to reward their effort.

I extend my congratulations to the new mayor and to all of the candidates who retained or won their individual offices.

I encourage them to put aside the differences that the campaign trail created and combine their efforts in building the base for the future of our city.

To the candidates who along with their families were the victims of non-issue, mud-slinging ads, I congratulate you for your courage to put yourselves on the firing line.

Perhaps some of the adults who become so entangled in their will to win should remember that the spouses, children and families of the candidates all too often end up being the targets of these negative efforts.

Despite what some people think, the majority of candidates are interested in trying to make a difference for the good of everyone. As candidates, you should be proud of and appreciated for the hours of physical and mental effort that it takes to plan and conduct a campaign.

Finally, I thank all Granite City residents who took the time on a cold and rainy day to express their opinions at the polls. Ours is not a perfect system, but it is the best one we know of.

Women should not be in combat

TO THE EDITOR:

War is a maelstrom of terror and confusion.

Defense Secretary Les Aspin has now added a new dimension to the United States' ability to wage war or police actions.

The concept of women as combat aviators, naval personnel aboard combat ships, or front-line combat troops is juvenile.

Women are not endowed physically or psychologically for combat to the extent that men are.

What happens when it eventually comes to hand-to-hand combat in a no-quarter-given guerrilla war?

A military populated by men and women fighting side by side in combat is a second-rate military or less, and surely to be defeated in a serious test.

Les Aspin and the rest of the "think tank" in Washington should re-evaluate this serious threat to the national security.

Consideration of Sims' book rejected

The 5th District Appellate Court took 70 pages to reject, point by point, Paula Sims' murder conviction appeal and to prohibit a best-selling book the prosecutor wrote from being introduced into the appeal record.

Sims argued the book, "Precious Victims," written by former Assistant State's Attorney Don Weber, showed Weber had a conflict of interest in the case and committed prosecutorial misconduct and police witnesses may have committed perjury.

The three-judge panel rejected the argument that the case should be sent back to trial Judge Andy Matoesian so the book could be included in the appeal record.

"The prosecutor admitted at the hearing on the post-trial motion that he had thought about and discussed writing the book with Charles Bosworth Jr. during the trial; that he and Bosworth agreed to the project a week after the trial had ended; and that he signed a contract with the publisher to write the book a week before the sentencing hearing," appellate Justice W.A. Lewis wrote.

But contents of books are not held to the same standards as evidence admitted in court and just the fact that Weber had thought about writing a book during the trial does not mean it affected Sims' right to a fair trial, Lewis wrote.

Weber was also the topic and target of a special three-paragraph concurring opinion written by Justice Gordon Maag.

Maag criticized Weber's decision to give interviews to reporters in midtrial about the surprise testimony of Dr. Mary Case, the St. Charles County, Mo., medical examiner who as a key prosecution witness cast doubt on Sims' story of being knocked out by a masked abductor.

"Cases are tried in the courtroom, not the pressroom," Maag wrote. "The motive for giving this interview escapes me. The result was an issue on appeal that should have never been an issue.

"While I find no fault with the press reporting the interview, I believe that in the future counsel should more carefully consider their remarks and the wisdom of characterizing their own trial ability and strategy in such self-congratulatory manner."

One of Sims' main points in the appeal was the evidence about Loralei's disappearance and death admitted into a trial about Heather's murder.

"The evidence of Loralei's disappearance was admissible because it was substantially similar to the unusual circumstances of Heather's death," the opinion said. "These common features were sufficient ... to establish a distinctive combination suggesting the work of one person, that person being (Sims)."

Sims also claimed the state failed to prove her guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

The appellate panel concluded the evidence supported "(Sims) or an accomplice, smothered (Heather), placed her naked body in a trash bag, froze the body, and then deposited the body almost four days later in a trash barrel in a park area less than six miles from (Sims') home."

Prosecutors alleged that Sims and possibly others killed Heather, moved her to a freezer at Sims' parents Cottage Hills house while the parents were away and later dumped the body in the trash barrel in West Alton, Mo.

Sims also contended the state failed to prove it had jurisdiction to prosecute her because the body was found in Missouri, but the appellate panel said it was clear the murder did not occur where the body was found.

The panel also said Sims and her attorney, Donald Groshong of Alton, had plenty of time to prepare for so-called surprise testimony about Sims' claim to have been knocked unconscious. The fact that it came from Dr. Case, who specializes in forensic pathology but also holds expertise in neuropathology, was irrelevant, the court held.

Case testified that if Sims had been knocked unconscious as she claimed she would never have remembered the details leading up to the blow.

America's Center hosting national PCEPD conference

By Rick Arnold
Correspondent

The impact of the Americans with Disabilities Act will be the main topic of discussion at the 46th annual conference of the President's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities.

The conference is scheduled for Wednesday through Friday at America's Center (formerly Cervantes Convention Center) in St. Louis.

"About 80 percent of the conference will deal with the ADA," said Deborah Dee, commissioner for the Office of the Disabled for the City of St. Louis. Dee's agency, along with the Missouri Governor's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities, is co-sponsoring the conference.

Symposiums on the ADA will be held each day of the conference. Also, on Thursday afternoon, a mock trial based on a hypothetical case of job discrimination relating to the ADA is planned.

Though people with disabilities and those who work in disability-related fields are familiar with ADA mandates, many small-business owners are unclear as to what they are required to do under the law, Dee said.

"Certainly, our experience is that ADA is a clear-cut law but many business owners are not sure whether it forces them to make changes," she said.

Other highlights of the conference will include a briefing Thursday morning by Clinton Administration officials on the status of disability programs at the federal level, and a panel discussion Friday morning featuring I. King Jordan, president of Gallaudet College, the country's only college where all students are hearing-impaired. Jordan is also hearing-impaired.

Youth Board to fund more projects

The Tri-Cities Area United Way Youth Board has announced the availability of $3,861 remaining to be allocated to various programs addressing youth needs.

The United Way Youth Board receives $10,000 from the United Way each year. These dollars are distributed by the Youth Board. The students develop priorities and learn to make difficult decisions concerning funding choices.

A total of $6,139 was allocated by the Youth Board in December 1992 to fund various projects benefiting youth in this area.

The grant projects for Granite City youth included purchasing books for school bookstores, purchasing clothing for needy students, providing parenting skills workshops, support for a supplementary reading library, and Christmas assistance.

Funding was provided for field trips for Venice students.

Madison youth received funding for a health fair, a party after the prom, and peer leadership programs.

The second cycle for funding projects from the $3,861 balance will take place in May. Written proposals should be submitted to the United Way Youth Board, c/o Tri-Cities Area United Way, 1821 Edison Ave., Granite City 62040.

All proposals for programs meeting documented youth needs will be considered. Requests for funding should include: name of group requesting funds, amount of grant requested, purpose of programs, proposed program activities, number of youth to benefit, and how program will be evaluated for success.

If a program is funded, all receipts, bills of sale, etc., must be submitted to the United Way Youth Board with an accompanying letter explaining the outcome of the project.

The Youth Board was developed in 1990 by the local United Way to create better community awareness of and appreciation for the potential of youth.

Students on the Youth Board work within the United Way system to develop and heighten youth input and involvement in meeting the health and human care needs of students.

The Youth Board membership consists of student representatives from the Granite City, Madison and Venice high schools. Steve Hamilton serves as the faculty adviser to the Youth Board.

IDOT offering free windshield washes

The Illinois Department of Transportation announced that motorists stopping at selected interstate rest areas in Illinois on weekends during May will get a free windshield wash.

Gov. Jim Edgar has designated May as Motorcycle Awareness Month, and in an effort to promote safe highways, members from local and state motorcyclist organizations will provide the free windshield washes. This program is sponsored by the department.

"Our goal continues to be to make motorists more aware of cycle riders and to reduce crashes and injuries to motorcyclists and drivers," said Gary March, director of the Department's Division of Traffic Safety.

Illinois has nearly 200,000 registered motorcycles, which is the third highest number in the United States, but was fifth in reported accidents during 1991. Nationwide, nearly, 2,800 people were killed in 1991, with 109 fatalities reported in Illinois.

"We are going to continue educating the public about the need to reduce the number of crashes, injuries and fatalities associated with motorcycling," said March. "Motorcycles are an important part of our highway safety program, and we are committed to working together toward safer highways for everyone. The windshield washing effort is a way to remind drivers to stay alert for motorcyclists."

The windshield washing project will be conducted at rest areas along Interstate 55, 57, 64, 70, 74, 80 and 90. For more information on locations, dates and times contact Larry Wort at 217-782-4974.

Automation of circuit clerk's office planned

Circuit Clerk Matt Melucci told members of the Madison County Bar Association he plans a major reorganization of his office next month.

"Considerable staff will find themselves doing new jobs," Melucci said, adding that there will be data processing training and cross-training.

He said the office will be completely automated within two years.

Melucci was the featured speaker at the association's Law Day recognition breakfast held April 30 at Charlie's Restaurant in Granite City.

The association awarded Madison County Sheriff Bob Churchich its Liberty Bell Award for service to the legal community.

"I've probably got the best automated system in Madison County," Churchich jokingly told the lawyers. "I put them in jail and you get them out."

Other awards were given to lawyers who donated their time to community programs.

"We need to raise the image of lawyers," said Dennis Orsey, president of the bar association. He is the assistant Illinois attorney general at the regional office in Granite City.

"Oftentimes. we rank down there by used-car salesmen. That is a bum rap. Some of us devote a lot of time to helping people."

Among those honored were 29 lawyers who donated their time to the "Ask the Lawyers" radio show that airs once a month on WBGZ radio in Alton and WYRT radio in Edwardsville.

Tips From Frank's Experts on

Watering Your Lawn

When and How Much?

FRANK'S®
NURSERY & CRAFTS
Where Beautiful Things Begin

The word "water" is rather overworked in the English language. You can get a good night's sleep on a water bed, but not if water hammer in the pipes keeps you awake. Ice water or a slice of watermelon is quite refreshing, but something watered down isn't. You might say that "water" covers a lot of ground. At least it should, as far as your lawn's concerned!

Most lawns need about an inch to an inch and a half of water per week, either from rain or sprinkling. To determine how long you have to run your sprinkler to get that amount, place coffee cans at various spots in the watering path of the sprinkler. Check them after 15 minutes. Once you find the average depth in the cans, multiply it by four.

Just about everybody has their own theory of when the best time to water is. Person A says the morning, B claims it's the evening, C believes mid-afternoon is ideal and D says the best time is as soon as the Cardinals' game is over. Who's right, and why?

Well, A is the closest, B's lawn can survive, somebody needs to talk to C, and if the ball game ends at 3 in the morning, D's correct. Three in the morning? Right! At that hour, the water pressure is high and less is lost due to evaporation. But, unless you have a programmable water timer, you're lawn's not about to get watered in the middle of the night. Dawn is the next best time, but a lot of people are getting ready for their daily commute, and watering the grass isn't on the agenda. Our advice? Water when you can, but try to avoid it in mid-afternoon. The morning's best, but if that's not possible, any time you can water is better than not at all.

A good long, thorough soaking once a week is much better than light waterings every other day or so. That's why mid-afternoon is not a good time to water. Too much of it evaporates before it has a chance to benefit the lawn, resulting in greater water usage. Of course, any local restrictions concerning watering must be followed.

Do you put off watering simply because you're not in the mood to hassle with the constant connecting and unconnecting of hoses and sprinklers? You probably have some not-so-fond memories of leaky hose connectors and their errant streams of water with your face as the intended target. You can forget those days forever! Two manufacturers, Nelson and Gardena, have come up with ingenious devices. They're hose connectors that simply snap together, and guaranteed not to leak! They fall into that "why didn't somebody think of this before" category. Use them and you'll agree. While you're at Frank's, check out the assortment of watering products. You'll be amazed at the number of items there are.

When setting your sprinkler, remember the wind! A watering pattern in calm conditions will change dramatically when the wind picks up. And a house or car with open windows can easily be in the sprinkler's new, unintended path.

Walking around the yard with the hose, lightly wetting the lawn doesn't help it. You'll be merely wasting your time as well as your water.

Frank's sells quality hoses and connectors, but durable as they are, they may not bounce back too well after getting backed over by a car. A hose reel like the one shown here is an ideal way to keep up to 100 feet of hose neatly stored and out of the way.

Job training grant received

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer and the Madison/Bond Counties Private Industry Council have announced the receipt of $45,099 through Title III of the Job Training Partnership Act.

The funds were requested specifically to aid the 338 Owens-Brockway employees who lost their jobs due to the closing of the Owens-Brockway Mold Shop in Alton earlier this year.

All of the Owens-Brockway employees affected by the layoff are eligible for assistance through this program.

The program offers job counseling, employment assessment, job search assistance, entrepreneurship training, vocational skills training, on-the-job skills training and transportation to employees not retiring and seeking other employment.

All of the employees laid off by this recent event who are not retiring and who are needing help securing suitable employment may contact the Alton JTPA office.

These services are also available to residents of neighboring counties who lost their jobs due to the January layoff.

The county also has offices in the following locations:

Edwardsville — 130 Hillsboro, 692-8943.

Granite City — 3701 Nameoki Road, 876-5031.

Remember the Good Ol' Knees?

Can you remember when your knees were not a painful problem? Maybe you were a weekend warrior until you twisted your knee, or perhaps you injured it at work. Now your knee is painful and swollen; you may have limited motion or the feeling that your knee is not going to support you. Sometimes your joint locks, clicks or feels weak and unstable.

When that happens, arthroscopy, a surgical procedure, can be performed to diagnose and treat joint injuries and problems. An arthroscope, a miniature camera and lighting system, is inserted through a small incision in the knee for diagnosis and, if necessary, surgery. Because the incision is small, you go home the same day as surgery, the scar is small and recovery fast.

Don't let your knees keep you down, call The Hip and Knee Center at 235-0007.

Ferd's Flowers is honored by Chamber

Ferd's Flowers in Granite City has been selected as the Small Business of the Month for April by the Small Business Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

The business was started by Ferd Pieper more than 40 years ago and has been at its current location at 2019 Edison Ave. for 26 years. It is now operated by Alan Pieper, Ferd's son.

Alan Pieper said while the shop does a great amount of call-in business, its location within walking distance from all downtown businesses makes it very convenient. But the secret of the business's success, he said, is the personal attention he and his four employees give to every customer and order.

The shop specializes in wedding and funeral work, but also provides fresh flower arrangements, silk flower arrangements and balloon arrangements for all occasions.

Interest charges can be deceptive

Brian Mulhall

Interest rates are the lowest they have been in a generation.

Credit-card-issuers are feeling the pressure to lower the rates they charge, and many of them have begun to follow suit.

Will that decrease the amount of nondeductible interest that one pays? Maybe, maybe not.

The rate is only one of the factors that governs the interest charged. Another is the method used to compute balance against which the rate is applied.

By changing methods, credit issuers are able to lower their rates but still receive just as much interest, if not more.

The customary method for determining charges is to calculate the "average daily balance." The balance outstanding each day is added and then divided by the number of days in the billing cycle.

Typically, a one-month cycle is used. However, a number of companies have begun to use a two-month base period — the current billing period and the one immediately prior.

The difference can be dramatic. For example, assume that a card carries a 19.8 percent interest rate. Purchases in the first month equal $1,150 and in the second, $200.

Under the terms of the agreement, the minimum payment at the end of the two-month period is $46. The finance charge using a one-month cycle to compute the average daily balance is $18.71. Using the two-cycle method, the interest is $35.44, almost twice as much.

Another approach used by issuers is to add new purchases made after the close of the last billing cycle when calculating the average daily balance in determining the base for the finance charge. This tactic can be used with either the average daily balance or the two-cycle method noted above to inflate the balance.

A drop in the interest rate may look inviting, but that is not all that may be happening. Note the example above for the same interest rate; the amount of each $46 payment that goes to pay the finance charge jumps from $18.71 to $35.44, depending on the method used to calculate balances.

Also, consider other steps that an issuer may take to offset a lower rate.

Some issuers who previously did not charge an annual fee are now doing so; others who charge no fee have instead eliminated the 25-day grace period and begin to charge interest on the date of purchase.

Also, beware of promotions that allow a payment to be skipped. Even if the payment is skipped, one continues to accrue interest; the result is as if you had made a purchase in the amount of the interest incurred.

Prudent financial planning requires that one keep credit in check and that the family pay the least cost for the credit that is used.

Emmett L. Beeler, 86, of Granite City died at 6:10 a.m. Thursday, May 6, 1993, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He was born April 5, 1907, in Madison and was a lifelong resident of this area.

A retired route salesman for Vesci Inc., Granite City, he was a former deacon and elder at First Presbyterian Church, Granite City.

Survivors include his wife, Eithel Beeler; one son, Ronald Beeler of Granite City; one daughter, Marie Lowder of Nashville, Tenn.; one brother, Claude Beeler of Oklahoma City; one sister, Faye Setchell of Granite City; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Ray and Irma (Threadgall) Beeler.

Services were held Saturday at Werner Chapel for Funerals, Pontoon Beach, with the Rev. Dr. Lewis Trotter officiating. Burial was at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates, Glen Carbon.

Memorials are requested for the First Presbyterian Church Organ Fund.

Wilma Suhre

Wilma Alice (Highfield) Suhre, 80, of Pontoon Beach died at 11:05 a.m. Friday, May 7, 1993, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, after a four-year illness. She was born Jan. 2, 1913, in Auburn, Ill., and was a lifelong resident of the local area.

She was formerly the owner of the Corner Cafe in Madison.

Survivors include one sister, Lena V. Wutzler of Wood River.

She was preceded in death by her husband, John H. Suhre, who died in January 1973; her parents, William and Christina Pearl (Gilland) Highfield; and one brother, Russell Highfield.

Visitation is 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. today at Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road, Granite City, where services will be held at noon Monday, with the Rev. John Davis officiating. Burial will be at Jefferson Barracks National Cemetery, St. Louis County.

Athena Gitchoff

Athena G. (Gounaris) Gitchoff, 86, of Granite City died at 2:09 p.m. Thursday, May 6, 1993, at Jewish Hospital in St. Louis after a three-year illness. She was born June 27, 1906, in Florina, Greece.

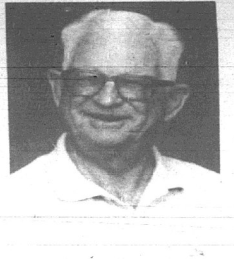
A homemaker, she was a member of Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church in Madison, the church Sisterhood and the Macedonian-Bulgarian Ladies Society. A longtime resident of Madison, she moved to Granite City three years ago.

Survivors include two sons, Attorney and former Madison County Circuit Judge John Gitchoff of Granite City and Dr. Thomas Gitchoff of San Diego; two daughters, Ginna Lurton of Sacramento, Calif., and Georgiann Dabney of Oliver Springs, Tenn.; one brother, Lazorki Gounaris of Florina; 11 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Dr. George Gitchoff, who died in 1962; one brother; and one sister.

Visitation is set for 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. today at Davis Funeral Home, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, Granite City. Services will be held at 11 a.m. Monday at Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church, 13th Street and Grand Avenue, Madison, with the Rev. Peter Stamboldjiev officiating. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates, Glen Carbon.

Memorials are requested for the church or the Visiting Nurses Association.



Kenneth Gauen

Kenneth Richard Gauen of Granite City died Friday, May 7, 1993, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He was 82.

Born December 29, 1910, in Granite City, he worked for more than 40 years at Continental Can Co. He was plant manager.

Excise gasoline tax hike advances in Legislature

SPRINGFIELD — An increase in the state's excise gasoline tax is heading for the House, having been approved by the Senate and a House Committee.

The increase, from three-tenths of a cent per gallon, to six-tenths of a cent, would help pay the cost of cleaning up old underground storage tanks. Money from the current excise tax goes to a variety of agencies and uses. Additionally, Illinois charges 19.3 cents a gallon in motor fuel tax, 6.25 percent in sales tax and some municipalities have a sales tax on gasoline sales.

The tax increase would generate about $17 million in revenue, according to Sen. President James "Pate" Philip, R-Wood Dale.

When tanks leak they put kerosene, gas or other chemicals into the ground and can then contaminate water supplies.

Many Telegraph area residents have been among those complaining about the cost of cleaning up tanks at abandoned gas stations they purchased for other small businesses.

A couple in Kampsville, for example, discovered an underground tank when they purchased a gas station to turn into a gift shop.

They later discovered that they were responsible for paying the cost of inspecting and removing the tank and paying for any cleanup if the tank had leaked.

The additional tax money would go to an Underground Storage Tank Fund and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency would have approval powers over all expenditures.

Currently underground tanks must be registered with the State Fire Marshal's Office at a cost of $500 per tank. The money is deposited into the underground tank fund.

If the bill is signed into law, tank owners would have a 60-day grace period to register their tanks. The period would start 45 days after the law is signed by the governor.

Those who don't register would have a $100,000 deductible per each tank, meaning they would have to pay that much of the removal cost before receiving any funds.

Tank owners who do register would have a $10,000 deductible.

work was never a question," Peters said.

He said the matter has been brought up for "political reasons."

"This has nothing to do with the project. It has to do with the politics of Granite City," Peters said.

Hanke agreed that it may not have been in his own best interest to put the issue on the City Council agenda at a time when his job is in limbo.

"But since the past administration did not seem to make it a priority, I thought the matter should be taken care of as expeditiously as possible by the new administration," Hanke said.

The Peters bid was accepted on a "unit price" basis, Hanke said. While the estimate for the cost of each unit was essentially correct, Hanke said, he underestimated the number of units to actually be completed.

Ward 1 Alderman Casmer Skubish, who was critical of the East Granite job while the work was being performed, said he is not any more satisfied now that it is completed.

Skubish cited the "neglect of Ridgedale Avenue," "defective" and "inferior" work, and failure of the curbs to meet handicapped accessibility requirements as reasons for his dissatisfaction.

"These contractors submit low bids, then do alternative, cheap work and jack up the prices. This should not be tolerated. The city has been burnt" on this and other projects in the past, Skubish said.

Ward 5 Alderman Tom Candler said he is unsatisfied with the work done in Lincoln Place.

"I'm in business. If I do this kind of work, I don't get paid," Candler said.

Ward 7 Alderman Sandy Crites said she thinks several provisions in the contract were broken by the contractor.

She said the contract calls for the contractor to review the project proposal and provide written notification to the city before proceeding with any additional, unspecified work; limits Hanke's ability to authorize additional work; and requires monthly accounting during the project of all work completed.

"I don't believe the contractor lived up to their end of the contract," Crites said.

Alderman Dan Partney said it is a "grave injustice" to C.D. Peters to continue to delay payment for work "done, authorized and accepted."

"Maybe I'm missing the boat," said Alderman Freddie Frederick.

"It looks to me like it needs to go to the attorneys for an opinion and we need to have someone out there supervising work in the future," Frederick said.

ground."

"If they plant after May 15, the corn yields will be cut in the fall harvest," Gvillo said. "It's the fourth of May and the fields are still soaked."

Farmers may see the sun Wednesday, but the rain will return before fields can dry much, said Butch Dye of the weather service.

"It'll be sunny Wednesday with a high temperature in the low 80s. Thundershowers will roll back into the area Thursday through Saturday."

The Illinois and Mississippi rivers fell slightly to 26.5 feet at Grafton, 8 feet above flood stage, said Rich Mills of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. "It dropped a half an inch overnight."

At Melvin Price Lock and Dam, the river was at 26.8 feet today, 5 feet above flood stage.

In West Alton, the high water broke through a private levee two weeks ago and flooded two miles of rich farmland near Red Schoolhouse Road.

"The water scoured a hole in the levee and came gushing through the fields," Neustadt said.

It raced across two farms and wiped out 400 acres of Neustadt's winter wheat.

"About 20,000 bushels of wheat are gone," he said. "It was the best looking wheat I've ever seen.

"My fields look like a river," he said. "The water is falling very slowly."

When the rain stops, Neustadt and his neighbor will team up to "repair a 200-foot break in the levee," he said. "The job could take two weeks."

Hundreds of tons of dirt from the levee washed into farm fields. "We'll scoop the dirt out of the fields and fill in the big hole," Neustadt said.

After the levee is rebuilt, Neustadt will try to salvage some of his spring planting with soybeans. "If the fields ever dry, we'll try to plant some soybeans in June," he said.

Floodwater and nearly 6 inches of rain in April has stopped planting on 30,000 acres near West Alton.

"If the fields don't dry soon, we'll be lucky to plant a third of our normal corn crop," farmer Gary Machens said.

He is keeping an eye on the Machens levee near West Alton. "The floodwater is still 5 feet high on the levee. The river is going down very slow."

Puddles are standing in the fields on his farm.

"Field drainpipes are full of floodwater," Machens said. "It can't drain out of the fields. Some of our ground won't dry out until June."

Balen said the regular classroom teachers would receive training and assistance from the two teacher-trainers to help them make computer skills part of their regular lesson plans. The classroom teachers would also be assisted by the multi-media center aides.

The proposal for the full-day kindergarten says full-time kindergarten has been very successful in every district that uses it. The proposal estimates that, if the program were fully in place, the district would receive more than $200,000 a year in additional aide from the state.

The middle school proposal also cites successes at other districts and says the middle school concept is one of "the most dynamic ways to improve the performance of early adolescent students. The proposal also states that switching to a middle school concept would create the space needed for the multi-media centers and the full-day kindergarten.

The reductions in secondary school costs, according to the proposal, are primarily based on teacher attrition.

Balen said the proposals are "just that, proposals. None of these it a take-it-or-leave-it situation. These are ideas we think merit consideration."

There not a strict timetable for action on the proposals, Balen said, and approval or disapproval of any one proposal is not tied to any other proposal.

Other proposals in the four-year plan that have been presented to the board, but not yet formally discussed, are reorganization of the high school curriculum to accomodate the Tech Prep program, methods of increasing district revenue through a variety of cost reductions, and a latch-key program for young students.

A proposal for a capital replacement schedule is due to be presented at the end of June.

The other proposal in the four-year plan is the renovation of the high school building. That proposal has been in place for four to five years, Balen said, but has not come up for final disposition by the board.

tion in the form of cocaine base in the area of Madison and Venice," according to U.S. Attorney Frederick Hess of the Southern District of Illinois.

If convicted of the cocaine conspiracy charges, each of the defendants could face 10 years to life in prison without the possibility of parole and a fine of up to $4 million.

The distribution and possession with intent to distribute charges each carry the same sentencing guidelines as the cocaine conspiracy charges. And each interstate transportation and conspiracy to commit money laundering charge carries a maximum sentence of five years and $250,000 fine.

Evidence for the indictment was obtained following an investigation by the Organized Drug Enforcement Task Force, including representatives of the Drug Enforcement Administration, the Internal Revenue Service, the U.S. Marshal's Service, the Illinois State Police and the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois.

At the ceremony from left are Mike Skoklo and Janet Mills, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce ambassadors; Steve and Peggy Cardwell, co-owners; R C Bush, chamber executive vice president; and Kathy Goclan and Harvey Cohen, chamber ambassadors. The Animal House is open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday. It features a large selection of fresh-water tropical fish and exotic animals such as tarantulas.

Construction safety conference set for Wednesday

The Council of Owners and Construction Associates (COCA) will sponsor a safety conference on May 12 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The conference will focus on the value of working with occupational health physicians and other occupational medical providers to improve treatment and reduce costs.

Ergonomic issues will be discussed in great detail, with special emphasis placed on injury prevention. Fall protection techniques and equipment will be included in the program.

The cost of the conference is $95. For further information about the conference content or registration procedures, persons may contact the COCA office at 288-9434.

Record quarter for earnings at Smith

A.O. Smith Corp., Milwaukee, has announced it established new records for first-quarter revenues and net earnings.

Net earnings of $13 million were more than double the $6.3 million earned before consideration of the effect of adopting FAS-106 for post-retirement benefits in the first quarter of 1992.

First-quarter 1993 earnings per share were $1.25, compared with 62 cents per share in 1992's first quarter, a quarter influenced by a weak automotive industry.

Revenues of $296.1 million were 17 percent higher than 1992's first-quarter revenues of $253.2 million and the best quarterly performance on record.

"These results indicate that our restructured operations are taking advantage of the economic recovery in some of our markets," Robert J. O'Toole, chairman and chief executive officer, said.

Automotive Products Co., benefiting from strong demand for full frame assemblies and other light truck products, accounted for 70 percent of the corporation's first-quarter revenue increase, with sales of $155.4 million. Earnings improved primarily due to higher volumes and increased productivity. The plants include one in Granite City.

The corporation's Water Products Co. experienced a 22 percent increase in earnings, due primarily to an 11 percent sales rise to $59.6 million.

The Electrical Products Co. and Smith Fiberglass Products reported modestly improved sales and earnings as their markets showed early signs of recovery.

Agricultural units reported a modest first-quarter loss, as expected due to normal seasonal market conditions.

"The first-quarter results support our earlier statements that, with continued economic improvement, the corporation expects to set sales and earnings records in 1993," O'Toole said.

"Our confidence in the future was further strengthened recently when General Motors advised us that beginning in early 1995 A.O. Smith will produce the full frame assembly for a new light truck."

Strotheides attend meeting

Dr. and Mrs. E.L. Strotheide returned recently from a week's stay on the island of St. John and attended a sports medicine conference sponsored by the Illinois Chiropractic Society.

Discussions focused on ankle and knee problems common to runners, treatment of sports injuries, and rehabilitation programs following injury.

One of the guest speakers was Dr. Marlen Williams, a chiropractor and Olympic marathon runner from St. Croix.

Dr. Strotheide, whose office is at 3412 Nameoki Road, is a member of the American Chiropractic Association and Illinois Chiropractic Society and serves on the board of directors at Logan Chiropractic College.

Completes diamond study course

Paul Alexander of Granite City has completed a course in diamonds with the Santa Monica, Calif.-based Gemological Institute of America and has been awarded the institute's diamonds certificate.

Established in 1931, the non-profit institute is an educational and research organization serving the jewelry industry, with campuses and laboratories in New York and California.

To complete the course successfully, he was asked to master a range of information and skills, from geology and mineralogy to world diamond market conditions and fashion.

Chris Spohr receives degree

John C. "Chris" Spohr of Glen Carbon, formerly of Granite City, has been awarded a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Columbia College, Columbia, Mo. Spohr graduated summa cum laude; he received the degree April 27, but the formal graduation ceremony will be May 16.

Spohr is a 1977 graduate of Granite City North High School and holds an associate of arts degree and an associate degree in science and business administration from Columbia College.

Before accepting employment with Digital Equipment Co., he graduated from Rankin Technical College in St. Louis in 1980. He has worked for Digital for the past 13 years and is currently a base manager.

Spohr is married to the former Martina Fries of Granite City. They have three sons, Frank, Christopher and Matthew. He is the son of Frank and JoAnn Spohr of Granite City.

In recognition of National Nursing Home Week, Calvin Johnson Care Center would like to extend a sincere appreciation to all of their dedicated employees for providing #1 Quality Care for those you care for.

Friends of Library elect officers

The Friends of the Granite City Library elected officers for 1993-94 at the annual meeting this spring.

Those elected were: Pauline Schank, president; Maxine Christoff, first vice president; Roberta Lewis, second vice president; Carol Franklin, treasurer; Judy Brown, secretary; and John Ribbons Sr., public relations chairman.

The members also voted to sponsor the Children's Library Summer Reading Program, as it has in past years.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. May 19 at the branch library.

Self-made success

Carmody's career takes off at GCHS

By R.J. Gerber
Staff writer

Little did 10-year-old Jack Carmody know that a visit to his grandparents' house would be the beginning of what has become a highly successful high school tennis career.

Carmody, the No. 1 player for the Warriors the past two seasons, stumbled upon the game as a bored youngster looking for something to do. While visiting his grandparents, Bill and Joyce Albers, Carmody grabbed an old badminton racket and started to hit a tennis ball against the wall.

FROM THAT experience, Carmody gained a more intense interest in the game. His strong will to improve has driven him to become one of the top players in the Southwestern Conference as well as the leader of the Warrior squad.

Noting that he has had only two professional lessons in his life, Carmody said he is somewhat of a self-made player.

"I'm a pusher, which means I haven't had much formal training," Carmody said. "I give a self-pushed effort because I want to be the best."

But being the best was something that Carmody didn't think he was ready for as a junior. When he was tabbed by coach Allen Lobdell as the team's No. 1 singles player, Carmody didn't approach the position with much enthusiasm.

"I really didn't want to play, but my parents (Tom Carmody and Janice Melson) told me to just do my best," Carmody said. "So I just went out and hit the ball like the pusher that I am."

Warriors back in hunt after conference win

Dickerson, Ridenour subdue Belleville East on three-hitter

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The Granite City baseball team avoided the rain just long enough Thursday to post its biggest win to date this season, a 5-2 Southwestern Conference victory over Belleville East in the first game of a doubleheader.

Play was halted in the first inning of the second game because of lightning, but Warrior coach Bob Stegemeier could hardly complain. The Warriors and the Lancers played for the first time this year after two rainouts, and Stegemeier's team crept back into the conference race with a convincing win.

Stegemeier considered the win to be bigger than the Warriors' 1-0 shutout over Edwardsville two weeks ago in the opening round of the Granite City Round Robin Tournament. Granite City had not defeated Edwardsville since 1988.

"It's bigger than Edwardsville, because it's a conference game," Stegemeier said. "It keeps us in the running, because everyone in the league has at least one loss. We have our destiny in our own hands again. We don't have to depend on anyone else."

Patton said with all the make-up games coming up, the conference is still wide open.

"This race isn't nearly over," Patton said.

Belleville East was previously undefeated in conference play. The Lancers dropped to 12-3 overall and 3-1 in the conference, while the Warriors improved to 14-5, 3-2.

The win was Granite City's sixth straight. The Warriors are scheduled to play Belleville East again Monday in a makeup game.

The two teams had been unable to play on two different occasions earlier this season because of the weather. It was the first meeting this season between Stegemeier and East coach Larry Patton, who are both in their final season.

"I was telling Larry the clouds started forming the minute they walked onto the ball diamond," Stegemeier said.

The rain stayed away long enough for the Warriors to ride

RACE
to benefit St. Louis Wheelchair Athletic Association.
SATURDAY, MAY 15, 1993

The Spirit of St. Louis Road Race is less than one week away. If you haven't signed up yet, please do so. All entries have to be checked and entered properly into the computer. For the sake of our volunteer workers, please don't wait until the last minute.

If you are a beginning jogger or a runner that's just coming off an injury or illness, I suggest that you enter the 3K. If you are in fairly decent shape, I encourage you to run in our premier event, the 10K. If you are a walker, we ask that you participate only in the 3K this year.

Over the past several weeks, we covered many areas in my running tips column. For your convenience, I will summarize a few of my most important observations and add a few more for your consideration.

— EQUIPMENT: Invest in the best pair of running shoes you can afford. No matter how good your natural abilities are, you need the right equipment to help you perform to the best of your abilities.

Good shoes prevent injuries. They provide the necessary trac-

GCHS physicals to be given May 19

Sports physicals will be administered at Granite City High School on Wednesday, May 19, inside the high school cafeteria.

Students should arrive by 6 p.m. dressed in a loose-fitting T-shirt and shorts. A pen or pencil is also needed. The cost is $15, and checks should be made out to Saint Elizabeth Medical Center.

Sign-ups for Baker camp being accepted

Entries are now being taken for Gene Baker's Warrior Kicker Camp soccer clinic this summer. The clinic will be held at the girls' varsity field from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. June 14-18.

The camp will be run by high school and college coaches, and the cost is $110. For more information, call Baker at the high school (451-5808) or at home (314-355-2374).

Legacy holding scramble tourney

The Legacy will hold a four-man scramble Sunday, May 16, with a 7:30 a.m. shotgun start. The cost of $140 includes greens fees, cart and prizes for first through fourth place, as well as longest drive and closest to the pin.

Entries are due by May 14. For more information, call 931-4653.

Ode to Odum — Members of the Warrior baseball team cheer on Rob Odum, who rounds third after clobbering a two-run homer in the third inning of Friday's game. From left, Bill Herman, Marc Patton and Bob Wilson welcome Odum (No. 11) home.

the steady arm of Corey Dickerson and a mammoth home run in the third inning by Rob Odum. Dickerson tossed a three-hitter and won his third straight start.

Dickerson, 3-0, beat Edwardsville on a one-hitter and limited Centralia to four hits last weekend in a 3-0 win. Dickerson went a total of 27⅓ innings this year, including several stints in relief, before finally giving up a run to Belleville East in the fifth inning.

Once again, Dickerson did nothing fancy. His eye for the strike zone kept him out of trouble and the Belleville East batters off base.

"Their kid threw a real good ballgame," Patton said. "He's got some good pop on the ball. I was impressed with him."

After giving up a hit to East's Chad Gray in the first inning, Dickerson settled down and retired the side in order the next two innings. Gray singled again in the fourth inning, but no one else in the East lineup could touch Dickerson. He had all three Lancer hits.

The Warriors gave Dickerson a commanding 4-0 lead with two runs in the second inning and two more in the third off East starter Matt Klamm. Jeff Ridenour led off the third inning with an infield single that handcuffed East third baseman Jason Martens.

The next batter, Odum, cranked a pitch from Klamm over the right-field fence for a home run. Odum's homer, a rocket that cleared the 350-foot sign in right field, belied his 5-8, 145-pound frame and left his teammates gaping.

"Odum just crushed the ball," Stegemeier said. "That ball was hit high. It was a towering drive. He's not big, but he is strong."

"He just turned on it and gave it a ride," Patton said.

After both teams failed to score in the fourth inning, the Lancers got an unearned run off Dickerson in the fifth. With two outs, Dan Davis and Tom Worley drew consecutive walks.

A double steal led to a run when Davis came around third on an errant throw from catcher Scott Nemeth. Dickerson ended the inning by retiring Brent Ramsey on a flyout.

Odum started a Warrior rally in the bottom of the inning with a hard liner that ricocheted off the first-base bag for a single. Odum took second on a sacrifice bunt by Mark Winfield and then scored on Bob Wilson's single to right field.

The Lancers got a run back in the sixth. Robb Hill led off with a walk, and Gray doubled to left field, scoring Hill and making the score 5-2.

Stegemeier lifted Dickerson for Ridenour, who came in from left field to strike out the next two batters. Nemeth ended the threat by throwing out Gray, was caught stealing third.

Ridenour pitched a scoreless seventh to preserve the win. Stegemeier said Dickerson showed his fatigue when he walked two batters in the fifth and one in the sixth.

"He usually gets ahead in the count," Stegemeier said. "We could tell he was getting tired when he started walking people.

"Ridenour did a fantastic job. This is a real good hitting ballclub."

Klamm and Gary Price, East's cleanup and No. 4 hitters, both struck out three times. Dickerson fanned five batters, and Ridenour added three more strikeouts.

The Lancers were playing for the first time in over a week, but Patton was not making excuses.

"Sometimes, the kids just aren't ready to play," Patton said. "Granite City came to play. They came through with some clutch hits."

Jason Maxfield got the Warriors going with a two-out, two-run double in the second inning. His line drive caught the gap in left-center and drove in Mark Winfield and Wilson.

Winfield started the second game, which was suspended in the first inning after Winfield struck out Mike Hug.

The Warriors now look to extend their winning streak with three conference games this week. They will play Belleville East on Monday, Belleville West on Tuesday and East St. Louis on Friday — weather permitting.

"Right now, we're playing pretty well," Stegemeier said. "We are starting to play with more intensity."

tion for most surfaces and terrain. They offer the maximum protection from the pounding and provide stabilizing support for your feet. Several companies provide a complete line of running shoes, with models that are excellent for all kinds of running and all kinds of runners. If you are unsure of the right shoe for you, I suggest going to one of the speciality running stores that feature technical assistance.

— DIET: A runner's diet is extremely important to his or her performance. The endurance demanded by long-distance racing and the strength necessary for bursts of speed are trying on the body. Fats and carbohydrates provide the fuel for energy, and protein the building material to repair tissues damaged by the strenuous exertion of running. For the growing young athlete, nutritional needs are especially critical.

The dietitians say we can get all of our nutritional needs by eating a good, well-balanced diet featuring food from the four food groups. I say that's fine unless you're a typical American with a stressful lifestyle and busy schedule. Most of us don't get all of the different servings from the food groups that we really need. Therefore, I encourage most people to supplement their diet with vitamins, minerals and other helpful nutritional additives depending on their individual circumstances.

— TRAINING: Every time you come home from work too tired to run, or you'd rather just sit and watch TV, you lose a little of what you've gained. Serious training requires dedication and sacrifice. Decide how badly you want to get in shape and then stick to a training program that will build up your speed, develop your endurance and strengthen the muscles you need for running. It's called commitment! Run with a friend if necessary to keep you going so you don't miss an appointment.

— CHART YOUR OWN DEVELOPMENT: Most runners find it useful to keep a diary or log of their daily workouts. This helps you establish your starting point and track your progress. Time yourself during your workouts and do the same routes or workouts frequently in order to track your improvement.

I hope these running/fitness tips have been helpful. Stay healthy and I hope to see you at the Spirit of St. Louis Road Race next Saturday.

For more information on the Spirit of St. Louis Road Race, call (618) 537-9500 or (314) 768-5325.

Optimist Club holding tourney

The Optimist Club of Granite City is sponsoring a junior golf tournament to be held Saturday, May 15 at the Legacy. The tournament is open to all boys and girls age 10-17. Entrants cannot turn 18 before July 19, 1993.

The competition will consist of 18 holes of medal play. The entry fee is $25, and it includes greens fees and refreshments. Trophies will be awarded in six categories.

Entry forms are available at the Legacy, and the deadline for signing up is May 12.

The tournament will be a local qualifying tournament for the International Junior World of Golf. Boys and girls winners in the 15-17 age groups will be sponsored in the Illinois District Tournament, which will be held June 24-25 at the Prairie Vista Golf Course in Bloomington.

District winners are then sponsored by the Optimists of Illinois in the International Junior World Championships, which will be held July 20-24 at Torrey Pines Country Club in San Diego, Calif.

The local tournament chairperson is Linda Vaught, and the tournament directors are Steve Rains and Gabe Mitchell. For entry blanks or more information, call Vaught at 877-1800.

Warrior senior Jack Carmody returns a shot. Carmody, 7-3 in singles play this year, qualified for the state tournament as a junior and hopes to return this season with doubles partner Ola Sternebring.

Tickets available for game at Busch

Tickets are being sold for the Granite City High School baseball team's game against Mount Vernon at Busch Stadium on May 30.

The game will start at 9 a.m., and the gates will open at 8:30 a.m. Tickets are $9.50, and they cover the cost of a game to follow between the Cardinals and the San Diego Padres.

To obtain tickets, call Granite City athletic director Greg Patton at 451-5808.

earned him a spot as a top four sectional seed. Although he was nervous entering postseason play, Carmody survived the sectional and advanced to state. After losing his first-round match, he beat an opponent from Champaign before being eliminated in the consolation round.

"That was like a dream come true," he said. "I never expected it, and it turned out to be a really good feeling. I was one of the top four seeds going in, and that feels really good.

"IT WAS A learning experience and now I've got the confidence and experience. Hopefully, we can do it in doubles this year."

Under Illinois High School Association rules, a player can only qualify for state as a singles player or with a doubles partner.

Carmody, while holding down the No. 1 singles slot, also teams with Swedish transfer student Ola Sternebring. Now the best of friends, Carmody and Sternebring didn't get along very well at first.

Carmody said he had constantly heard that Sternebring was putting on a tennis show in physical education classes. Being the competitor that he is, Carmody wanted to find out how good Sternebring was.

"I DIDN'T like him at first because he was a threat," Carmody said before the two played each other. "But if you play doubles together, you have to be good friends on the court and off. It's unfortunate because he's going back in June and I'm going to be losing a really good friend."

The duo had posted a 5-3 record going into Saturday's triangular match against Alton and Bethalto. In singles action, Carmody is 7-3.

At the beginning of the season, though, he lost his top spot to freshman Joe Markel. Carmody regained the No. 1 position two weeks ago after beating Markel in a challenge match.

That kind of depth has helped the Warriors to a 7-2 record this season. Carmody said it's the deepest and possibly most talented squad that he's been associated with.

"WE PUSH each other, and even if I'm down I encourage the other players to keep fighting," he said. "Every team has its squabbles, but it makes you feel good to be part of this team.

"Although I discourage anybody from playing like me, I think the guys look up to me as the big brother on the court."

It wasn't always the same feeling for Carmody, however. After attending Alton Marquette his freshman year, he made the switch to Granite City — where he has lived all his life. He said it was tough to keep in contact with classmates because he was too young to drive.

But one person he does remember from his days as an Explorer is tennis player Scott Davis. The two hooked up earlier this season and Carmody won a 6-3, 6-3 decision.

"That felt really good," he said, "because I always thought I was better than him."

Park District having softball registration

The Granite City Park District is now taking registrations for the high school boys and girls slow-pitch softball leagues.

The deadline for entry is May 14. The girls will play at Wilson Park Diamond 8 on Wednesday nights, and the boys will play at Worthen Park on Saturday nights.

The leagues will begin play in the first week of June. Players can register at the Wilson Park office, and the entry fee is $150.

GCHS scramble May 23 at Legacy

The third annual Granite City Booster Club Classic golf scramble will be held May 23 at the Legacy.

The fee for a foursome is $200. All proceeds will benefit GCHS athletic and cheerleading programs.

For more information, call Greg Patton at 451-5808.

•Course

Saturday is from 6:30 until 7:45 a.m. Race participants and spectators are encouraged to park in the Stadium North parking garages right next to Kiener Plaza with entrances off Pine Street.

The starting lines for both races will be on Broadway near the entrance of the Marriott Pavilion Hotel. Both races head south on Broadway. The 10K course adds in a loop around Busch Stadium and goes through the starting line again. The 3K course cuts over to Fourth Street via Gratiot and goes up to Convention Plaza before heading down Broadway to the finish. The 10K race proceeds south on Broadway and Seventh all the way to the Anheuser-Busch brewery complex and turns left on Arsenal. 10K runners then head north on Broadway, Seventh and Fourth before turning left on Washington and left again on Broadway to the finish.

The finish line for both events is located on the corner of Chestnut and Broadway. The post-race party/awards ceremony will take place on Kiener Plaza, in the amphitheater.

Bob Brockland would like to introduce the newest member to their staff. ED BAIN is a lifetime resident of Granite City with 7 years experience in vehicle sales.

He is also a member of the Pontiac Sales Master Organization and GMC Truck Performers Guild.

Dieters lose 100 pounds in 13 weeks

Lucille Martin

Lucille Martin covers the Pontoon Beach scene for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 931-0731.

The April meeting of the Bunco Club was held in the home of Karen Lemler. Members attending were Doris Wilson, Linda Arnold, Debbie Vincent, Robbie Wilson, Sally Kirksey, Edith Rogaschnik, Vina Nelson, Linda McCasland, Terri Hecht, Edna Bennett, and the hostess.

Toby Verdu of San Diego spent one day last week visiting his grandmother, Lucille Martin of Breckenridge Lane. He also visited his parents, Joe and Marilee Verdu, and family before returning home.

A first place weight loss banquet was held Tuesday evening in the Pontoon Baptist Church recreational hall in honor of the members who had completed the 13-week course. Emblem pins were presented to each member with the words emotional, spiritual, mental, and physical engraved on them from the instructor, Lyn Hart. A pot luck dinner, made from recipes out of the first place cook book (one from each member) was served to Kim Wilson, Frances Brake, Tammie Shankee, Sharon Ryan, Wanda Hubbell, Dalphine Kinder, Lyn Hart, and several visitors who will be joining the classes for the next 13 weeks. A total of 100 pounds was lost.

A hobby and craft fest is scheduled to be held on Sunday, May 16, at the Pontoon Baptist Church. Collections of many things will be on display for viewing and discussion from 4 p.m. until 6 p.m. If anyone would like to display your hobby, contact Gus Falter at 931-1111 or 931-1316. A time of fellowship is planned and refreshments will be served.

Nikolas Frank Verdu, two-year-old son of Judy Verdu, was baptized Sunday, April 25, in the First Church of the Nazarene in Pontoon Beach by Evangelist Rev. Bob Appleby of New Mexico. Rev. Appleby is presently conducting services in the church. Beth Adams was appointed godmother and two special witnesses were Carol Monical and katie Taylor. Judy Verdu also became a member of the church that same day.

Legion Junior Group members receive awards

Venice-Madison Unit 307 American Legion Auxiliary Junior Group held its monthly meeting on April 12 at the Post 307 home in Venice.

Amanda Foley, junior president, conducted the meeting. Chelsey Peery, chaplain, led the group in prayer to open and close the meeting.

Dorothy Hinson, advisor, presented awards for contests judged at the 22nd District Meeting on April 3rd to those not attending that meeting.

Awards were then presented from the Senior Unit 307 for the following:

Poppy Corsage Class I: 1st place - Cathy Moreland; 2nd place - Chrissy Ballard; 3rd place - Kaleigh Peery.

Class II: 1st place - Bobbie Chastain; 2nd place - Amanda Foley.

Poppy Tray Favors: 1st place - Chelsey Peery; 2nd place - Chrissy Ballard; 3rd place - Rhonda Ballard.

Poppy Centerpiece: 1st place - Chelsey Peery; 2nd place - Chrissy Ballard; 3rd place - Rhonda Ballard.

Special recognition awards were presented for the following: Book of Prayer by Chelsey Peery; Publicity Press Book by Jenna Miller; History by Kirsten Yobby; Doll Dressing - Laura Martin, Chelsey Peery, and Kaleigh Peery; Americanism Flag Book - Kaleigh Peery, Cathy Moreland and Chelsey Peery. Honorable mention was given to others entering all contests.

Fourteen Junior and four Seniors were to attend the Department Junior Conference at the Chancellor Hotel in Champaign on April 23, 24, and 25. Participating as "pages" will be Rhonda Ballard, Jenna Miller, and Megan Miller. On the Distinguished Guest Committee will be Kaleigh Peery and Laura Martin. Working at the display tables will be Chrissy Ballard at History Table; Amber Singleton at Poppy Floral Table; Melissa Anderson at Poppy Tray Favor Table; Bobbie Chastain at Doll Dressing Table; Chelsey Peery at V.A.&R. Paperwork Table; Cathy Moreland at the Poppy Hat Table; and Amanda Foley will be one who reads the minutes after the Conference for Correctness.

Plans were also discussed about attending the 22nd District Mayfest in May at the Illinois Veterans Home in Quincy.

The group made 120 tray favors for veterans in the hospitals in Illinois. These will be sent after the Junior Conference.

Treats for Easter were given of candy and bendable bunny rabbits.

Those attending the meeting were: Melissa Anderson, Chrissy Ballard, Rhonda Ballard, Bobbie Chastain,, Amanda Foley, Laura Martin, Cathy Moreland, Chelsey Peery, Kaleigh Peery, Amber Singleton, and Ashley Singleton. Seniors present were Dorothy Hinson, Cindy Yobby, Rose Moreland, Carla Peery, Connie Pallard, and Rita Singleton.

The next regular meeting will be May 10 at 6:30 p.m.

Nameoki United women to remember missionaries

Nameoki United Methodist Women held its general meeting on April 12.

The meeting was called to order by President Millie Clements, who lead the group in repeating the Purpose of the United Methodist. Devotions entitled, "Do I Act As Though I Will Never Die," were given by Shirley Leckrone, Christian personhood chairperson.

"Seeds of Faith — Death and Resurrection" was the topic of the lesson given by Corrine Dawson. Christians honor death, endings and "good-byes" as passages to new life. Dorothy Luckert presented global concerns regarding missionaries.

Members were divided in fours and each group selected a missionary and are to remember them in prayer for the month. A letter was read from missionaries Dale and Alice Walker, stationed in Poland.

Plans were made for a birthday party at the Colonial Care Center on May 21. Seven members are planning to attend the spring district meeting at the First United Methodist Church in Collinsville.

Workshops will be held on Literacy, Women in Crisis, and Prison Ministry Dealing with Children.

A rummage sale at the Nameoki church was planned for April.

Plans were finalized for the Mother and Daughter Banquet May 10. Tickets are available at the cost of $2.50 for adults and $.75 for children under 12. A salad is requested for every three persons.

The unit had reached 12 district goals out of 16 as of this meeting. Dorothy Ashford presented the Least Coin on "Women of Faith and Action." Hostesses were Mary Bailey and Dorothy Wallace.

23 graduate from gardener training school

Twenty-three Master Gardeners in Madison and St. Clair counties have recently graduated from the Illinois Extension Service Master Gardener Training School.

These Master Gardeners join the current 12 advanced Master Gardeners in supporting the work of the Extension Service horticulture program.

Graduates are available to answer questions from homeowners on the topics of vegetable gardening, ornamental plants, small fruits, tree fruits, plant pathology, plant identification, environmental problems, herbicide use, insect control, soils and fertilization, annuals and perennials, and turf.

Master Gardeners are available to answer questions in the Madison-St. Clair Extension Unit offices, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Walk-ins are welcome in the Madison office Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. The telephone for the Madison office is 692-7700. In the St. Clair office walk-ins may speak to a Master Gardener on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday. Telephone callers in St. Clair may call 236- 8600.

Recent graduates include Nancy Tierce, Jill Gillman, Mary Ann Fortae, Collinsville; Julie Ribbing, Carolyn Wilson, Barbara Haberer, and Betty J.M. Steiner, Highland; Jean E. Elliott, Tom Yates, and Steve Riddle, Edwardsville; Ray and Virginia Robinson, and Shirley Lyerla, Bethalto; Carol Ashbury, Nancy Salyapongse, Sheila J. Bonn, and Mary Jo Kuehn, Belleville; Richard A. Engelke, East St. Louis; Warren Henry Baumgartner, Caseyville; Mary Murphy, Glen Carbon; Adolph Louis Schlich, Okawville; William W. Worthen and Wilburn J. Kerley, Troy.

Information about the Master Gardener program is available from Janet Burnett, Extension Unit Leader at either Extension Unit office.

Named to dean's list at Quincy U.

Shelly Wilbur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wilbur of Granite City, was named to the dean's list at Quincy University for the fall semester.

The freshman mathematics major was among 143 students to achieve a grade point average between 3.5 and 4.0.

BPW hears from parents' group

The Gateway Business and Professional Women's Organization held its monthly meeting at Brenda's Restaurant on Feb 24.

Ruth Nicholas, legislation chairman, introduced Eileen Rea, group facilitator for Parent's Anonymous in Granite City, as the speaker for the evening.

Rea informed members and guests this was a support group for parents who are afraid they are abusing their children or might abuse them. Parents who participate in this group help each other improve their relationship with their children, grow together as a family, build one another's self esteem and self respect.

A child-care aide is on hand to take care of children who come with the parent; this enables the parent to attend, especially if they have small children, Rea said.

This program has been very beneficial in showing a decrease in physical and emotional abuse toward the children, once the parents start attending the support group, Rea said. She also said members begin to resolve their own problems, and the children have heightened self-confidence and a better ability to express their feelings.

Parents Anonymous was started in 1970 and the Illinois State Office was established in 1989. It is an international, non-profit organization and the nation's largest child abuse prevention and treatment program offering services to strengthen families.

Celestia Puryear and Shirley Rapoff were nominated to serve on the nominating committee for 1993-94 officers.

Ollie Derr, president, gave a report on the IDC & Young Careerist dinner hosted by District XIV. Cathy Jung from Granite City BPW was the IDC winner and Ann Popkess from Highland BPW was the Young Careerist winner. Both were to go to state in April to present their speeches and again to be judged.

Derr said she, Ruth Nicholas and Shirley Rapoff were planning to attend the State Convention to give their support not only to Cathy Jung and Ann Popkess, but also Cathie Castello from District XVI, who has been nominated for 2nd vice president/state recording secretary of the Illinois Federation BPW.

The collect was given by Celestia Puryear and the Pledge of Allegiance by Juanita Williams.

Mitchell School scholastic awards are presented

W. Richard Brinkhoff, administrative assistant for elementary education in the Granite City School District, and Ron Stern, principal at Mitchell School, are announcing Scholastic Achievement Award winners from the 4th, 5th and 6th grades at Mitchell school.

Basic report card grades are based on second quarter and fourth quarter grades only, not an average of the semester grades.

A student must receive "A's and B's;" all "B's" are acceptable.

Asparagus — good nutrition and price

Although the appearance of asparagus in the produce department long has been a sign of spring, modern refrigeration and transport has greatly extended its season — with varying levels of price and flavor.

April through June, however, remain the peak months for enjoying this light vegetable. Although associated with elegant dining, its price this time of year makes it affordable for all budgets.

A member of the lily family, asparagus was considered a delicacy in ancient Egypt and was prized by Greeks and Romans as both food and medicine.

Asparagus can make an important contribution to a healthy diet, because it is low in calories and sodium. One cup asparagus provides more than half the recommended daily allowance of vitamin C and a third of the RDA of vitamin A.

The two hallmarks of quality in asparagus are the condition of the tips and the color of the spear. Look for dry, firm, round stalks with compact, closed, purplish tips and the greatest amount of green on the stalk. Flat stalks tend to be woody, and open tips are a sign that the asparagus is past its prime. Select spears of uniform thickness or thinner spears will be overcooked by the time thicker ones are tender.

Once home, keep asparagus in a cold, humid place and use it as soon as possible. You can serve thinner stalks raw, or cook asparagus by steaming, boiling or baking. Serve it blanched and chilled with a low-fat dip as an elegant appetizer. Use it to make a soup or in a vinaigrette or pasta salad served hot or cold.

Stir-fry asparagus pieces in a small amount of oil and sprinkle with a bit of grated parmesan cheese or lemon juice.

As a side dish, the delicate flavor of asparagus goes best with fish or pasta rather than with highly seasoned meats. Complementary herbs include chives, parsley, tarragon and thyme.

Asparagus Salad with Lemon-Soy Sauce is a wonderful way to take advantage of the fresh, young asparagus that is now available. The dressing has a tart, zingy flavor that complements the salad without obscuring its natural flavors.

Asparagus with lemon-soy sauce

1 to 1¼ lb. thin asparagus stalks, cut diagonally in 1½ inch lengths
13 scallions, divided
1 tbsp. oil
¼ tsp. fresh ginger, minced, or dash of ground ginger
½ cup chicken stock or low-sodium bouillon
1 tbsp. cider vinegar
1 tsp. soy sauce
½ tsp. sugar
⅛ tsp. (or more) pepper
Lemon juice to taste

Cook asparagus and 8 scallions in steam basket over boiling water about 5 minutes until they are crisp yet tender. Rinse under cold water to stop cooking process and set color. Drain. Cool.

Heat oil in small saucepan over medium-high heat. Add ginger. Stir until it begins to color. Meanwhile, mince 2 scallions and add to saucepan to cook a few seconds. Add stock, vinegar, soy sauce and sugar.

Just before serving, mince remaining 3 scallions. Transfer to large bowl. Add asparagus and whole scallion. Bring dressing mixture to boil over medium-high heat. Boil 30 seconds. Stir in pepper. Add lemon juice and pepper until desirably tart, peppery flavor is achieved. Add extra vinegar, if needed.

Pour mixture over asparagus. Toss before serving.

Makes 4 servings, 95 calories and 4 g fat each.

Coupons can be money saver

The following article was provided by Lois E. Smith, extension educator, consumer and family economics.

Imagine opening the Sunday paper and finding it filled with money. Your Sunday paper is filled with money — money in the form of coupons.

According to Mary Ann Fugate, a consumer and family economics educator with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, coupons are easy to find.

During the past few years, the number of coupons and the average value of coupons has increased. More than 1,000 companies offer over 80 billion coupons each year, not counting the ones offered by retailers.

At one time or another, practically every brand-name line offers coupons. It's a standard promotional tool for introducing new products.

To get the most of coupon clipping, consumers should develop a system that works for them.

Set up a file and sort coupons from manufacturers and retailers into various categories such as cereals, mixes, paper goods, coffee, pet foods or anyhting you buy often enough to warrant clipping coupons. You might even want to invest in a coupon organizer, available through a number of mail-order catalogs.

Once you have organized your coupons, you can pull out those you plan to use when you are making your shopping list. To speed up your shopping and prevent fumbling for coupons, jot your shopping list down on the outside of an old business-sized envelope. Mark the itmes you will be purchasing with a coupon. It's also a good idea to jot down the brand, size, cent-off or other description.

You should also note the coupon expiration date.

Bread, muffins emphasize the grains

Eating more grains is a smart thing to do. In addition to being low in fat and calories, they are a delicious source of energizing complex carbohydrates.

When trying to put six to 11 servings of grain servings in a day's worth of eating, it helps to know that a sandwich with two slices bread counts for two servings. A single tortilla or just ½ cup cooked rice or pasta is one serving.

By eating 1 cup cooked oatmeal and half a toasted English muffin at breakfast, a sandwich with two slices whole wheat bread at lunch, and 1 cup pasta with spaghetti sauce at dinner, nine servings are consumed with ease.

These recipes use wheat germ as a hearty addition to bread and muffins. They can be served with soup or salad, as well as broiled meat, poultry, fish or pasta dishes.

Easy herb focaccia

1 pkg. (16 oz.) hot roll mix
1¼ cups water
1 egg
2 tbsp. margarine, softened
½ cup original wheat germ
1 tbsp. chopped fresh or 1 tsp. dried basil
1 tbsp. chopped fresh or 1 tsp. dried oregano
1½ tsp. minced garlic or 1 tsp. garlic powder
1 cup thinly sliced onion rings
1 tbsp. olive oil

Preheat oven to 375°. Lightly spray 2 large baking sheets with nonstick cooking spray.

Prepare hot roll mix according to package directions, stirring in wheat germ, basil, oregano and garlic with water, egg and margarine.

In nonstick skillet, saute onion in olive oil about 1 minute.

Divide dough in half. Pat dough in 8-inch circles on prepared baking sheets. Lightly press cooked onion on top of loaves. Sprinkle with additional wheat germ if desried. Bake in preheated oven 20 to 25 minutes until golden brown.

Makes 2 loaves of 8 slices each; 140 calories, 5 g protein, 22 g carbohydrate, 4 g fat (23 percent calories from fat), 15 mg cholesterol, 200 mg sodium and 1 g dietary fiber per slice.

Garden patch muffins

1 cup flour
⅔ cup original wheat germ
½ cup cornmeal
3 tbsp. grated parmesan cheese
1 tbsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt, if desired
Up to ⅛ tsp. cayenne pepper
1 cup skim milk
2 egg whites, slightly beaten
2 tbsp. oil
⅓ cup shredded carrot
⅓ cup shredded zucchini
¼ cup thinly sliced green onion

Preheat oven to 400°. Line 12 medium muffin cups with paper liners or grease bottoms only.

Combine flour, wheat germ, cornmeal, parmesan cheese, baking powder, salt and cayenne pepper. Mix well.

Combine milk, egg whites, oil, carrot, zucchini and onion. Mix into dry ingredients until just moistened.

Fill muffin cups three-fourths full. Bake in preheated oven 15 to 20 minutes until light golden brown.

We're Sorry!

On page 9 of this week's Sight & Sound Sale circular, we advertised a wood over-the-commode etagerè for 37.49. Due to the manufacturer's inability to ship in a timely manner, this item may not be available in the beginning of the week. We will gladly issue rain checks. We will also be happy to substitute a brass or white metal etagerè, reg. 39.99, for a sale price of 29.99.

KWMU enjoys modest success despite 'liberal' format

Ian MacBryde

"I have always depended on the kindness of strangers." Blanche Dubois, "A Streetcar Named Desire"

Patricia Wente, general manager of KWMU-FM (90.7) is nowhere near as naive as Blanche Dubois, you can be sure. But she does know the feeling.

How would you like the task of running a radio station dealing largely in ideas and world affairs? A station which many people in your potential audience probably would label as way too liberal? And relying on contributions from that potential audience to keep your station afloat?

Well, that's what Wente's station is all about.

KWMU-FM is chartered by the University of Missouri. It is located on the University of Missouri-St. Louis campus, has its own license and is affiliated with National Public Radio. That affiliation is enough to label the station as "liberal" for many people in St. Louis.

The station features news, classical music and jazz programming. But according to program director Tim Emmons, "our listeners are news junkies." Recent additions to the programming seem to indicate that the station wants to serve those addictions.

They include: "BBC World News" (midnight to 5 a.m.) and "Talk of the Nation" (1 to 3 p.m.), an NPR program. They run Mondays through Fridays. And several other news and commentary programs have been added to the weekend schedule.

Emmons called the station's mission statement pretty general.

"We are supposed to provide a state-of-the-art public broadcast service," he says.

Clearly, from KWMU's point-of-view, that means information and lots of it. From midnight to 9 a.m., and from 1 to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday, there is news and comment on local, national and international issues.

"We try with both national and local issues to do in-depth coverage," Emmons says. "We give a story more than just 30 seconds. You can tell people what is happening in 30 seconds, but you can't tell them why in 30 seconds."

Critics, by and large, rave about the quality of material from NPR. But some listeners consider it too liberal.

Is that a problem? When you consider that approximately 59 percent of the station's financial support comes from public subscriptions — individual and corporate — perhaps so. The remainder comes from the University of Missouri system (21 percent) and from grants (20 percent).

But Wente says the station is not trying to be all things to all people.

"We want to focus on what we do well and do it better," Wente says.

So ratings don't matter?

"I'm concerned, because ratings are the only objective way to demonstrate how well we are serving our listeners," Emmons says. "But ratings are not an end to be achieved."

Maybe not, but the numbers seem to indicate at least modest success for KWMU. Although Arbitron does not make direct comparisons between public and commercial stations, the research indicates that its audience would rank somewhere toward the bottom of the top 20 stations in the market. Arbitron ranks approximately 30 stations.

Emmons says that KMOX-AM (1120) and KFUO-AM (850) with their informational formats are competition. But he adds that KSHE-FM (94.7) — a rocker — and KSDK-FM (93.7) — classic rock — are competitors, because they attract listeners in the age group he perceives as his target audience.

Research indicates that more than 60 percent of NPR's audience falls in the 25 through 54 age bracket, and 59 percent of the audience is male. But Emmons says that education is the biggest factor in determining the station's audience.

"The more education a person has, the more likely he or she is to be a listener," he says.

With all those things considered is KWMU likely to adopt an "all-news" format?

"I don't know," Wente says. "We've tweaked some things (program additions) to see if that is what people really want."

But such a change would not take place in the next couple of years, she said.

Interested Persons

Mr. Nelson Hagnauer, Madison County Board Chairman and the Madison/Bond Private Industry Council, hereby announce that Madison County, the grant recipient for Service Delivery Area #22 serving the Illinois counties of Madison and Bond through the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) is providing public notice of the availability for review and comment of its two-year Job Training Plan modification for Program Year 1993 (July 1, 1993 - June 30, 1994).

Funds anticipated from the State of Illinois through the Job Training Partnership Act for PY 1993 include $2,996,734 which are distributed as follows:

Title II-A — Training Services for the Disadvantaged, $953,142;
Title II-B — Summer Youth Employment and Training Program, $970,614;
Title II-C — Youth Training Program, $700,145;
Title II-O — Older Individuals Training Program, $51,165;
Title III-A — Economic Dislocation and Worker Adjustment Assistance Act, $321,648.

The purpose of the Job Training Partnership Act is to establish programs to prepare youth and unskilled adults for entry into the labor force and to provide job training to those economically disadvantaged individuals and others facing serious barriers to employment.

The activities and services available to Madison and Bond County residents through Titles II-A and II-O of JTPA may include the following: case management, assessment and counseling, academic training, vocational skills training, on-the-job training work experience, job search assistance, support services and transportation assistance. The activities and services available through Title II-B and II-C of JTPA may include the following: case management, assessment and counseling, remedial training, vocational exploration, work experience, preemployment and work maturity skills training, basic academic skills training, job specific skills training, vocational skills training, cooperative education programs, limited internships, job search assistance, support services and transportation assistance. The activities and services available through Title III-A of JTPA for Madison and Bond County residents laid-off from their employment within the last two (2) years include case management, assessment and counseling, pre-layoff assistance, academic training, vocational skills training, on-the-job training, job search assistance, support services and transportation assistance. Based upon program eligibility and need, participants may enroll in one (1) or more of the above activities.

The Job Training Plan modification will be available for review and comment at the Madison County Employment and Training Department, 130 Hillsboro, Suite 103, P.O. Box 670, Edwardsville, Illinois between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Inquiries may be directed to Dan Churovich at (618) 692-7040, Extension 4520.

Former resident is honored in England

A former Granite City resident, Ann Marie Uram Maassen, has been chosen as Volunteer Administrator of the Year by the American Red Cross at the Royal Air Force's Lakinheath Air Force Base in England.

Ann Marie, the Red Cross hospital chairman, was selected as administrator of the year by the steering committee of the American Red Cross.

She has been the Hospital chairperson for over a year and has put in over 800 volunteer hours.

She instigated the official adoption of the American Red Cross by the 48th Medical Group. She and the assistant hospital chairperson whipped up the idea of a Cream Pie in the Face auction that raised over $600 for the Child Care Fund.

Ann Marie is the youngest daughter of Raymond and Josephine Uram of Granite City.

She received her bachelor of arts degree in nursing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in 1981 and her master of arts degree from St. Louis University in 1988. She is married to Capt. Gary A. Maassen, M.D., who is stationed at Lakinheath Air Force Base.

HOW TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE POWER COMPANY.

From education and safety to lighting and budget billing. Illinois Power offers a variety of services that can help you. So go ahead and take us for everything we've got. These and many other programs are all to your advantage.

BUDGET BILLING
When temperatures rise, your power bill doesn't have to. Budget Billing from Illinois Power estimates your annual energy costs and divides them into 12 equal payments. What a cool idea.

LEASED LIGHTING
Just look on the bright side. NightDuty Lighting from Illinois Power gives you added protection from burglars and vandals, as well as beautifies your home and allows you to stretch daylight hours for work and fun. Call for our free brochure and let us shed more light on the subject.

EDUCATION
Here's something you should know. Illinois Power offers a variety of educational programs including tutoring, college scholarships, energy-related and safety presentations, and motivational programs aimed to keep teens in school and away from drugs.

GAS SAFETY
Sniffing out gas problems isn't always easy. That's why Illinois Power offers gas safety programs to make people aware of the dangers of carbon monoxide and other topics. Call for our free brochure, as well as information on electric safety.

24-HOUR CUSTOMER SERVICE
We have an answer for everything – billing inquiries, payment arrangements, and especially service requests and emergencies. Illinois Power representatives are always at your service, even at 3 a.m. on Sunday morning. Just give us a call.

CUSTOMER ASSISTANCE ADVISORS
A little free advice. Illinois Power has customer assistance advisors who can suggest special arrangements if you're having trouble paying bills due to unusual circumstances. These advisors will also connect you with social agencies who can help you through tough times.

ILLINOIS POWER
Service You Can See
